WHO USES GLORY LEAGUE?

Our data shows that 80% of players use the platform after a game. Players of all different levels use the system for a range of reasons – for some it is to help them improve, for others its part of social engagement with teammates, it might be so parents and family who can't attend games can experience games too, and for some they really like seeing a great play or shot they have made.

Glory League also makes competitions safer and better with a marked improvement of player and spectator behaviour.

HOW LONG AFTER MY GAME WILL I GET MY VIDEO?

It takes anywhere from one to twelve hours before the game video is ready. This is dependent on the quality of internet at the stadium and the number of games recorded. The general rule of thumb is that if you play at night the game video will be with you by the next morning.

DOES GLORY LEAGUE OFFER USER SUPPORT?

Glory League offers user support through a customer support email (support@gloryleague.com) and chat system, and via Facebook.

WHO CAN ACCESS THE VIDEOS?

Only participants in a game (the players, coach, referees, and approved supporters (approved by your association) and Association Administrators have access to view that game video.

HOW DOES GLORY LEAGUE PROTECT A PLAYERS PRIVACY AND SAFETY?

Glory League has an array of privacy options that are set on installation and activation. These can be changed as required.

The Glory League technology captures wide shots of the court action, rather than focusing on individuals. It also removes the need for other videos to be filmed by individuals. Note - there are no controls over video filmed by individuals which can capture any angles and shots and be shared without safeguards.

Care is taken to ensure that all video content is of a professional standard and filming techniques are representative of basketball camerawork at only the highest levels.

Participants agree to Glory Leagues terms and conditions when they register to play.

Glory League's privacy practices have been reviewed by an independent legal counsel which found that the system is fully compliant to Australian Privacy Requirements.
